What is GPSG Senate?

The Senate is the legislative arm of Graduate and Professional Student Government (GPSG). It consists of the Senators who represent departments or graduate programs, standing committees to conduct business of GPSG, and a President Pro Tempore who assists in leading the Senate. The GPSG Senate represents nearly 80 different units who each have a seat at the table during discussion and an equal vote.

What can I do as a GPSG Senator?

Senators are liaisons between GPSG and their unit. They function to voice the concerns of their constituents and to relay information regarding funding opportunities, events, and changes that are always happening on campus. Units with senators in good standing at the end of the legislative session are awarded monetary allocations.

Senators play a crucial role in drafting and voting on legislation, which can be used to:

1) Support Graduate and Professional Students via Travel Awards and Appropriations for student-led groups,
2) Voice the concerns of constituents to UNC Leadership and hold administrators accountable,
3) Confirm appointments to various GPSG Leadership positions, and
4) Propose amendments to GPSG Code and other governing documents.

Why does representing my unit matter?

1) Giving graduate and professional students a voice: You will have a direct way to tell the university what changes you want to see on campus and connect your fellow students with the resources and opportunities that it provides.

2) Funding opportunities for you and your constituents: You get immediate access to pertinent information related to funding for conference or research travel, funding opportunities for extra-curricular events, and the time and place for all social programming.

3) Leadership opportunities: The Senate is the backbone of GPSG: we cannot function without Senators! It is much more than a line on a resume; you will have the opportunity to help enact changes that will better the lives of current and future graduate and professional students.

When does GPSG Senate meet?

The Senate typically meets the first Tuesday of each month from September through April. All meetings start at 5:30 PM and we aim to finish by 7:30 PM. The first senate meeting has been delayed until September 21st at the same time. For 2023-2024, we will have a hybrid format, and Senators will have the option to attend all meetings virtually.
